BRIEF ILLNESS ENDS IN DEATH

Mrs. Lucy Temple, of Owensboro, Dies at the City Hospital Monday.

FORMERLY LIVED HERE.

Mrs. Lucy Temple, widow of the late Cosby Temple, of this city, died at the City Hospital in Owensboro Monday morning at 8 o'clock, after an illness of only a few days of pneumonia. She was taken ill last Thursday, and on Friday was removed to the hospital. Saturday night she grew worse and her life was then despaired of.

Mrs. Temple was a native of Virginia and came to Kentucky with her parents when only three years of age. Surviving her are her brother, J. W. LaFoe, of Owensboro, and the following nephews: Hillary Bell, John Bell and Lonnie Bell, of Daviess county, and Owen Temple, of Hancock county; Lee Bell, Wm. LaFoe and Edward LaFoe, of Greenville, Miss.; Miss Catherine Temple Petrie, of Hancock county, is a surviving niece.

Mrs. Temple was a devoted member of the First Baptist church, of Owensboro, and active in church and charitable work. She will be remembered here by many of the citizens of Cloverport, as she lived here for several years before the fire.

The funeral services were conducted from the church Tuesday afternoon by the pastor, Rev. E. E. Bomar, assisted by the Rev. I. B. Timberlake. Interment in the Elmwood cemetery.

Breckenridge Baptist Association

The regular meeting of the District Board will meet with Black Lick church on Saturday and Sunday, January 29 and 30. Let every member of the board make a special effort to be present, and remind those who have been appointed by the church that Saturday and Sunday is the time and Black Lick the place.

Those who expect to come on the train, and expect to be met, will please come down Friday at noon. Arrangements have been made to meet all visitors and members, so let everybody come. The program will be as follows:

Saturday 11 a. m.—Preaching by Rev. H. S. English.

1 p. m.—Board meeting.

2:15 p. m.—Way Follow the Bible in Its Plan of Financing, open discussion—Led by Rev. Walker and Rev. DeHart.

Sunday, January 30th.

10 a. m.—Sunday School, followed by open discussion—Led by J. B. Herndon and H. S. English.

11 a. m.—Preaching by Rev. Russell Walker.

Let everybody come.

HAWESVILLE NOTES.

Mr. All Harrison, an old and one of the most highly respected citizens of the Indian Hill neighborhood, died Tuesday morning at six o'clock at his home. He had been in very bad health for some time.

The burial of Mrs. Ell Young, whose death the Clarion mentioned last issue took place Saturday from her late residence and the remains were laid to rest in the family lot in a cemetery near Patesville. The bereaved husband and eight little children have the sympathy of the entire community.

o o o

Ice skating has been the chief event in which many of the social leaders have been interested in for several days and nights the first of the week. On Monday and Tuesday nights the several stretches of frozen backwater near the city were flooded with moonlight which brought out many of the older and younger couples who enjoyed the sport. Many interesting and exciting games of hockey were indulged in.

o o o

Buel Basham, a prosperous young farmer of the Duncan neighborhood, will leave in about six weeks with his family for Chicago, where he expects to make his future home. Mr. Basham was noted for the amount and quality of tobacco that he produced on his little farm and the fact that he has got so little for his crops in the late years is the cause for him deciding to try other friends and new pursuits.—The Clarion.

DIES IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Lloyd L. Wright Dies at Decatur, Ill., Wednesday. Former Breckenridge County Girl.

Mrs. Lloyd L. Wright died in St. Mary's hospital, Decatur, Ill., Wednesday afternoon of a complication of diseases. She was only sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Wright is the daughter of Mrs. Wm. Taul, of Free, Ky. She was born in Cloverport August 13, 1900. Became a member of the Baptist church at Free, Ky., and had lived in Decatur only a short time.

Besides her husband, and three weeks old son, William Lee Wright, she is survived by her mother, Mrs. Wm. Taul, and Mr. Taul, two sisters, Misses Lena and Louise Rice, of Free, two brothers, Thos. W. Rice, of Free, and Bishop Rice, of Evansville, Ind.

The funeral was held at the residence Saturday.

The Small Town Kick.

There are fancier towns than our little town, there are towns that are bigger than this; and the people who live in the tinier towns all the city excitement will miss. There are things you can see in the wealthier towns that you can't in the town that is small; and up and down there is no other town like our own little town after all. It may be that the street through the heart of our town, isn't wide, isn't long, isn't straight; but the neighbors you know in our little town with a welcome will wait. In the glittering streets of the glittering town, with its palace and pavements and thrall, in the midst of the throng you will frequently long for our own little town after all. If you live and work in our town, in spite of the fact that it is small; you'll find that the town—our own little town—is the best of a town after all.—Ex

TOBACCO SALES

Breckenridge Loose Leaf Sold Last Week 85,000 Pounds. Prices Good. More Farmers Should Attend Sales.

The loose leaf tobacco sales last week at the Breckenridge Loose Leaf House run around 85,000 pounds. The tops were not as high as some previous sales, but the general average was good. Trashes were from 25 to 50 cents higher, while leaf and lugs held their own.

J. E. Monarch got an average of $8.33 for his crop of dark. Top price was $12.70.

H. A. Pate and Mart Sutton tied on burley; each selling a basket for $12.10. At the Glen Dean house about 50,000 pounds were sold, prices ranged from $2.60 to $10. James Nally had the best sale; his top price bringing $10 and his average $7.60. Prices were considered good for the quality of tobacco offered.

More farmers ought to attend these sales, whether they have tobacco or not. They can get a good idea of the sales and the prices. Get in touch with the buyers and learn what they want and what grades bring the best prices. They can then grade their tobacco to make it bring what it is worth. The tobaccos that bring the best prices are the best grades. They are nicely handled, tied up in neat hands and placed on the baskets so they will be attractive and command the attention of the buyers.

The regular sales days now will be Wednesdays for Glen Dean, Thursdays for Fordville and Friday for Hardinsburg.

Below will be found a list of sales.

Glen Dean House.

James Nally, 8 baskets, at $10, $10, $10, $8.10, $7.60, $5.70, $5.30, $2.61.

Dark Sales.

Beard and Lively sold 3 baskets, 1,070 pounds, at $5.70, $7.50, $10.

Paul Hale sold 1 basket, 350 pounds, at $9.70.

W. W. Baxter sold 4 baskets, 820 pounds, at $9.20, $7.10, $5.

Tom Bland sold 8 baskets, 2,343 pounds, at $8.58, $7.10, $5.40, $3.50, $3.30, $3.20, $3.10.

Beard and Lively sold 13 baskets, 3,505 pounds, at $5.10, $5.60, $4.90, $5.4, $3.80, $4.30, $3.40, $3.30, $3.3, $3.3.

Alvin Pate sold 11 baskets, 4,920 pounds, at $3.35, $4.10, $9.20, $8.50, $8.10, $9.80, $3.20, $5.40, $3.30, $3.

Sahlie and Garrett sold 8 baskets, 1,675 pounds, at $3.20, $3.10, $5.4, $7.10, $6.50, $9.10, $10.

Burley Sales.

H. A. Pate sold 6 baskets, 1,195 pounds, at $11.10, $7.10, $12.10, $11.85, $8.70, $3.60, $3.10, $3.50.

Mart Sutton sold 2 baskets, 185 pounds, at $7.10, $12.10.

Changes in Game Laws Urged.

The Kentucky Fish and Game Commission will urge the Legislature to make the following changes in Kentucky's game laws:

1. A bag limit on quail of not more than twelve (12) birds per day.

2. A bag limit on doves of not more than fifteen (15) birds per day.

3. An open season on doves from September 1, to October 15.

4. An open season on squirrels from July 1, to December 15.

5. The season on woodcock to be closed indefinitely.

6. Prohibit the export of all game birds and animals protected under the Kentucky laws.

7. Prohibit the sale of rabbits in closed season.

8. Five-year closed season on wild turkey, pheasants and Hungarian partridges.

Keep Bird Dogs Up.

9. Confining bird dogs during the months of April, May and June.

10. Permit sale and transportation of game birds raised in captivity when accompanied by permit from the State Game and Fish Commission.

11. Five year closed season on deer, elk and all imported game animals.

River Falls Slowly.

The Ohio river is gradually going down at this point. The continued increase in the rise of water last week caused much anxiety among the people living on the river front. But little damage was done here.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT

W. J. Ballman and Wade Pile Want $15,000 Damages From Louisville Herald For Making Untrue Statements Regarding Election.

W. J. Ballman and Wade Pile by their attorney, Claude Mercer, have filed suit in the Breckenridge Circuit Court against the Louisville Herald, Louisville, for $15,000 damages for publishing a notice to the effect that said parties failed to deliver poll book and ballot box to election officers at Mook until noon on election day held last November.

The plaintiffs aver that the matter set forth in the notice is untrue and claim damages in the sum of $15,000 each.

Receiving Congratulations.

Congratulations are being received by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hall on the birth of a little son on January 19 at their home in Hardinsburg. He was christened Carl Rodman Hall.

C. L. BEARD

Locates at Elizabethtown—Buys the Dyer Furniture Stock With D. W. Watson.

Daniel Watson, of this city, and C. L. Beard, of Hardinsburg, purchased the entire furniture stock of Rolla Dyer here Thursday and took immediate possession. The consideration was cash and at high figures. Mr. Watson was recently engaged in the furniture line with Mr. Dyer and fully understands the trade. Mr. Beard is a practical business man and generally succeeds in any business in which he engages. The Mirror predicts that the new firm will succeed in their new venture, as both gentlemen are up-to-date business men.—Elizabethtown Mirror.

The Breckenridge News.

This dear old paper is not simply a weekly news sheet, but it is a character that stands for the right, that tries every week to help some one to be better and happier.

Help the paper to do right. Keep it clean and dignified. Let it honor all men and be kind to everyone. Leave out personal remarks and never put in anything that you would not write about yourself, unless absolutely necessary.

Never hold a grudge, and if a person criticizes your work, let it help the best you can. Return good for evil.

Respect the editor. When, in doubt, ask his counsel. Never go ahead, without asking his advice, remember, Mr. Babbage shoulders the responsibility, and he will appreciate your thoughtfulness.

Sales of Live Stock.

Skillman & Jarboe sold a load of hogs in Louisville last week for $7.55.

J. W. French and H. S. English, of Ammons, shipped a car load of cattle and hogs last week. Cattle brought 6 cents and hogs $7.55.

J. F. Clarkson, Irvington, sold 16 head of Durocs, averaging 385 pounds, last week, to Paul Wilson for $6.50. This is the finest bunch of hogs sold this season. They were fed 100 days.

W. R. Moorman & Son, Glen Dean, sold to Walker & Hester, Wilderville, Tenn., 8 head short horns. Mississippi Lumber Co., 2 bulls and 7 heifers. They purchased 3 short horns from J. S. Bate, Smithfield, Ky.

LEAP YEAR PARTY.

Given by the Young Ladies of Hardinsburg Friday Evening. Thirty Present.

Hardinsburg, Jan. 22.—(Special.)—The first leap year party of 1916 was given by some of the young ladies of the town at the Commercial Hotel last Friday evening from eight to eleven o'clock. The young ladies proved themselves not only gallant escorts, but, judging by the most delightful menu that was served and prepared by them, they certainly are gifted in domestic science.

A three course luncheon was served in the hotel dining room, consisting of the following: Creamed chicken on toast, shoe string potatoes, creamed beans, fruit salad, olives, pickles, coffee, cream and wafer and mints.

The guests were:

Messrs.

Sam Evans, Francis Dillon, Russell Hook, Lindsay McGary, Grover Gregory, Hobart Shellman, Moorman Ditto, R. P. Kunnecke, R. W. Diehl, Willie Cline, M. B. Kincheloe, William Evans, Ely Duval, Robert Haswell, Jerry Lennon.

Misses

Esther Meador, Emma Meador, Louise Taylor, Eloise Hook, Katurah Johnson, Mary H. Whitworth, Hallie Brown, Ruth Kincheloe, Margaret Peyton, Patsy Gray, Jessie Hudson, Virginia Beard, Clara B. DeHaven, Frances Lee Brown, Lottie Bandy.

Homesick For Paper.

Dear Mr. Babbage: Enclosed please find one dollar for which please send me the Breckenridge News again. Some time ago I ordered the paper stopped, it came on awhile and then stopped entirely. I get so homesick to hear from old Cloverport so please send it again. If I am due anything let me know.

Mrs. R. P. White, Ft. Worth, Texas.

A New Business Firm

in Elizabethtown.

Mr. C. L. Beard, who recently moved to Elizabethtown from Hardinsburg, in connection with Mr. Dan Watson purchased Wednesday the furniture business and the good will of Mr. Rolla Dyer. The new firm of Beard & Watson has taken charge of the store. Mr. Watson is one of our cleverest and most popular citizens and has been engaged in the furniture business for about a year. Mr. Beard is an enterprising, pushing business, who has made a splendid impression upon our people since he moved here. This is a splendid business and the News predicts success for the new firm. Mr. Dyer did not sell the building.—Elizabethtown News.

School and Civic

League Program.

The School and Civic League of Irvington will present the following program at the meeting February 4 at the school building:

"Peace on Earth, Good Will to Man."

"The nobility of a people lies not in its capacity for war, but its capacity for peace"—Dickinson.

Children's Chorus.

Roll Call—Item from or about Abraham Lincoln.

Music—Miss Virginia Head.

Discussion—The Relation of Preparedness of Peace—Mrs. Reeves, Miss Angie Gibson, Mrs. Chamberlain.

Current Events—War or Peace Movements.

SOCIAL MEETING

Of the Parent Teachers' Association Held Friday Afternoon—Many Visitors Present.

The Parent Teachers' Association held an interesting meeting at the High School building Friday afternoon. A number of visitors were present.

The program was in charge of Miss Edith Allen, chairman of the Association. A duet was beautifully rendered by Miss Mildred Babbage and Miss Lula Severs, after which Mrs. L. T. Reid entertained the society with two vocal solos. Little Miss Anna Elizabeth Keith sang a short song which she had learned at school. On account of some of the members on the program being absent the time was spent in discussing plans for the association.

An enjoyable talk was made by Prof. McCoy explaining why more parents should become members, stating that it would create a greater interest in the school children. He said "that if parents would visit the school or even come to the school house, the child would then know that its parents were interested in where the children had to spend the greater part of their time."

Delightful refreshments were served by the following girls: Eva Weatherholt, Louise Nicholas, Ruth Lamb, Charlotte Allen, Lella Tucker, Cecil Jolly, Louie E. Weatherholt, Lola Carson and Clara Mae Seaton, who are taking Domestic Science under the instructions of Miss Evelyn Young, an efficient teacher.

The next meeting of the Parent Teachers' Association will be held February 4.

MRS. RAILSBACK

Dies at the Satterfield Home Friday Morning at 10 O'clock—Funeral Held Saturday.

Mrs. Lizzie Railsback, aged fifty-four years, died at her home at the Satterfield place at 10 o'clock Friday morning of a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Railsback will be remembered here as Miss Lizzie Satterfield. She had been living in Texas for a number of years, and on account of ill health came here three years ago to make her home. Being an invalid and unable to visit, she devoted the remainder of her days in doing good. She was a thoroughly consecrated Christian and was ready for the summons.

She is survived by four brothers, C. W. Satterfield, Luther Satterfield, Thos. Satterfield, Cloverport, and James Satterfield, of Pineville, Ky., and three sisters, Miss Lorena Satterfield, Miss Laura Satterfield and Mrs. Viola Jackson, all of this city.

The funeral services were conducted from the residence Saturday at 2 o'clock by the Rev. R. E. Reeves, of Irvington, with interment in the Cloverport cemetery.

Will Speak in Hardinsburg.

Hon. H. V. McChesney will deliver his lecture at the courthouse in Hardinsburg on the evening of February 14. His subject will be, "The Man and His Job."

GRAND JURORS.

Following is a list of grand and petit jurymen summoned by the sheriff to serve as jurors at the February term of court.

Grand Jury.

H. C. Stewart, Austin Arms, Joe Glascock, J. G. Frymire, John Akers, Geo. W. Milburn, G. D. Beard, Robt. Harlow, T. F. Brown, J. A. Dean, P. L. Neafus, C. H. Priest, Frank F. Dean, J. T. Hoben, G. T. Stith, Wm. Kendall, W. D. Hale, John Lyddan, B. F. May, Richard McAfee, J. W. Huffines, Frank DeHaven, J. D. Hoskins, George B. Compton.

Petit Jury.

Andrew Driskell, George Payne, Chas. H. Hook, J. O. Baker, Paul Hendrick, J. R. Mattingly, J. B. Morgan, J. H. Bramlette, H. H. Norton, S. R. Bandy, Griffin Kasey, H. D. Lawson, Mike Miller, M. Norton, Cleve Hendrick, Mack H. Dowell, Mike Lyddan, Paul Compton, Con Mattingly, J. C. Nolte, P. E. Scott, J. B. Smart, J. D. Skillman, E. A. Moore, John H. Galloway, Ed Finley, Wm. Skillman, Ezra Cooper, Geo. W. May, J. L. Henninger, S. Durham, H. L. Dalton, A. C. Pate, J. C. DeHaven, John Jennings and Jake Kendall.

Raise Buckwheat.

For three reasons every farmer in this section should raise buckwheat. First, it is a nutritious grain, none better for hogs or poultry or in fact when ground and mixed with corn cannot be surpassed for horses and cattle. Second, makes excellent bee pasture and comes at a time when wild flowers have been exhausted. Third, it will yield more per acre than flour wheat and will actually improve the land. From the middle to the last of June is a splendid time to sow it if you want a good yield of grain, but it can be sown earlier or later and get good results.

Will Probated.

The will of J. H. Mattingly was probated in the County Court last Monday. He gave to his wife, Emma Mattingly, all of his real estate and personal property, consisting of 150 acres of land and $1,250 in land notes; also his cattle and hogs and household goods to hold so long as she remained his widow. To his granddaughter, Anna Mattingly, and his daughter, Mary Mattingly, he willed $100 each. Then after all his heirs had been made equal, to his son, Thos. A. Mattingly, who had received $500. His daughter, Hilda A. Henning, $475; his son, Ambrose M., $120; his son, Jesse H., $115; his son, Marcus W., $100; his son, John B., $100; his son, Chas. E., $100; his son, Nathaniel N., $100. In the event his estate falls short of bringing up each heir with his son, Thomas A., and daughter, Hilda A. Henning, they shall refund a sufficient amount to make all the heirs even.

He appointed his wife executrix without bond.

The will was made February 18, 1910, and witnessed by J. R. Laslie, Marshall Norton and W. L. Matthews.

HENRY DEHAVEN MOORMAN

Breckenridge County Man Ar- range For Introduction of Bill Intended to Save State Money.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 18.—Commonwealth's Attorney Henry DeHaven Moorman, of Hardinsburg, was in Louisville Monday night after a few days in Frankfort, where he arranged for the introduction in the house and senate a bill to reduce the number of peremptory challenges allowed the defense in felony cases. He is a member of the Law Reform committee of the Commonwealth's Attorneys' Association of Kentucky.

The bill, which has the indorsement of Attorney General M. M. Logan, repeals Section 203 of the criminal code of practice, which allows the defense fifteen challenges in all felony cases, and substitutes a provision allowing ten where willful murder is the charge and five in all other felony cases. The allowance of three challenges in misdemeanor cases will, under the new law, remain as at present.

Senator W. A. Frost, of Graves county, will introduce the bill in the senate, Mr. Moorman said, and W. E. Dowling, of Anderson county, will introduce it in the house.

"Human life is cheaper in Kentucky than it is anywhere else on earth," Mr. Moorman said last night. "In one county, Hickman, in Senator Frost's district, there have been twenty homicide cases since August, an average of about one a week. We owe it to ourselves to protect the good name of the state, as well as the lives of its citizens. The percentage of convictions is all too small in this kind of cases. Frequently murders are deliberately planned, and the number of peremptory challenges allowed the defense is one of the things taken into consideration. A man says, 'I have got $10,000 I can afford to spend, and with a slick lawyer and all those challenges I can kill a man and get out of it.'"

"This bill, if enacted, will save the state money, in that it will cut down the number of men summoned for jury duty. It will advertise to the world the fact that Kentucky is not going to permit the existence of legal loopholes in felony cases. Better than all, it will act as a deterrent to crime. Besides, ten challenges is enough to conserve the ends of justice in willful murder cases and five is sufficient in all other cases."

LOCUST HILL.

Miss Lottie Davis, who is attending school at Harned, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Davis.

A large crowd attended the sale at Abe Meador's Saturday. Mr. Meador and family will leave in a few days for Illinois, their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Mingo were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis.

Most all of the farmers in this community are through delivering tobacco and are well pleased with the prices received.

Bud Skaggs, of Custer, is visiting relatives here.

Miss Ozzie Davis has returned to her home at Woodrow, after spending several days here, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. W. Blair.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis gave a dance Saturday night in honor of their cousins, Misses Pearl and Ozzie Davis, of Woodrow. A large crowd attended and all report a good time. Bud Skaggs and Payton Madison furnished the music.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Butler and little daughter, Ruth, spent Sunday night the guests of his father, Felix Butler.

Several from here have been attending the red tag sales at Hardinsburg.

The school closed here Friday. Miss Lillian Carman was the teacher.

Mrs. Pearl Davis Sussuske, Miss Hook, of Woodrow, and Fongia Melburn, of Custer, spent Saturday night the guests of Miss Annie B. Davis.

Logsdon-Ditto.

The wedding of Miss Nina Logsdon and Grover C. Ditto was quietly solemnized January 15 at the home of the bride's parents in Louisville. Only the two immediate families and few intimate friends were present. The Rev. R. H. Bolls officiated immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Ditto left for their southern home, Riversdale Plantation, Denison, Tex.—Vine Grove Sentinel.

BACKACHE IS A WARNING

Cloverport People Should Not Neglect Their Kidneys.

Backache is often nature's most frequent signal of weakened kidneys. To cure the pains and aches, to remove the lameness when it arises from weakened kidneys, you must reach the cause—the kidneys. If you have pain through the small of your back, urinary disorders, headaches, dizziness, or are nervous and depressed, start treating the kidneys with a tested kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills have been proved good and are especially for weak kidneys. Doan's have been used in kidney trouble for over 50 years. Read Cloverport testimony.

J. B. Strong, farmer, Cloverport, says: "I had trouble with pains across the small of the back and through my sides. Doan's Kidney Pills quickly cured me and in return, I highly recommend them."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Strong had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props, Buffalo, N. Y.

Will History Repeat?

One hundred years ago, 1816, was a year without summer. Will history repeat itself this year, it being the one hundredth anniversary of that momentous year, says the Paris Democrat.

In 1816 it snowed every month in the year. An old man in Kentucky told me he had heard his grandfather talk of that year and one incident had impressed itself on his mind. His grandfather said that he and his "girl" started for a Fourth of July celebration, but were compelled to turn back on account of a terrific snow storm. The old man told me that in the spring of 1817 his grandfather and another man rode from Kentucky on horseback into Pennsylvania and paid $5 per bushel for seed wheat with which to plant their fields. The past year was a step in that direction. We did not have any snow during the summer, but at the same time we did not have two weeks of real summer weather during the entire year. Possibly the weather man was waiting for the one hundredth anniversary to rol around so that history might have a chance to repeat itself.

Notice.

Dr. R. I. Stephenson will be in his office at Stephensport regularly after January 1, 1916, to practice his profession. Prompt attention will be given to all patients who call at his office.

Worth the Price.

Dear Mr. Babbage:—Thank you for changing my address of paper with a promptness that gave me each number on time. My time is out. I am sending check for another year. If the bank charges for collection, just return check and I'll risk a dollar bill in letter. The Breckenridge News is so richly worth the price that I want you to realize the full amount of the dollar. Mrs. Pile and I are well and happy. Wishing you all of the best for 1916, I am,

Your friend,

Try a News Want Ad.

Look Out, Gov. Stanley.

We want to see Gov. Stanley's Administration a success, for its success means much for the betterment of Kentucky and we would also like to see it a success for the good of the Democratic party, but it looks to us like running on some very weak rails and if persisted in will result in a smash up and a general wreck. Starting out upon the idea of strict economy the people generally approved. There must, however, be consistency in this policy. Telling the Legislature that it must get along without extra help, Gov. Stanley appoints extra help himself, one man Assistant Attorney General at $250.00 per month, and another at $300.00 per month. As the Attorney General is well equipped to attend his office and the State has provided a State Inspector and Examiner to investigate all the departments of the State government, it looks like the appointment of the Assistant Attorney General was entirely unnecessary. It is a species of extravagance not in keeping with the Governor's talks about rigid economy and looks like the offices were created to reward the services of a couple of Stanley's friends.

The first move of these favorites of the Governor was to find a "mare's nest" about Mrs. Gora Wilson Stewart which has become the laughing stock of the State. The Governor undertakes to lay his hand down hard on the sheriffs of the State, the poorest paid of all the county officers, and the most dangerous job, and now he is hearing from all the sheriffs and what some of them are saying is not pleasant.

In undertaking to compliment Treasurer Goodpaster's report, Gov. Stanley says, "he has brought order out of chaos" and immediately former Treasurer Rhea says that there is very little difference between his report and his successor and that the changes Mr. Goodpaster has made were suggested by him and Mr. R. G. Phillips, the Assistant Treasurer, under Mr. Rhea, who is still in Mr. Goodpaster's office. Gov. Stanley has gotten the wrong idea in his head. He seems to think that he was elected Governor in order to discredit everything he can find about the former Democratic Administration. He should recall the platform upon which he was elected endorser of the McCreary Administration. What Gov. Stanley might do with greater profit and popularity to himself is to seek to make his Administration an improvement over the Democratic Administration by what HE DOES and what he is able to bring about and that the people of Kentucky are not going to applaud him on account of any demerits the former Democratic Administration may have had. We advise Gov. Stanley in the kindest manner to look out, and get on the right track.—Elizabethtown News.

"I BOUGHT A BUNCH OF PIGS"

"Got the biggest piece of news yet," yelled Dave Thurman as he rode up to the old blacksmith shop at Ashbottom.

"Well give it to us, Dave."

"John Hughes's goin' to run for school trustee."

"No, you're jokin', Dave. John, he's too busy a farmer to bother with bein' school trustee, besides he hasn't got any kin folks teachin' school that I ever heard of."

"That may be so, but I got word about it mighty straight. His wife tol' mine he was goin' to run an' I reckon that's just about as straight as anybody could get anything. Here he comes now on his ol' bay mare, an' you can ask him for yourselves."

When the tall, fine-looking man had given the blacksmith some instructions concerning the mending of a doubletree, he turned to the men and said:

"I'll bet anything Dave has told you I'm out for the office of school trustee for Ashbottom Sub-district."

"Yes, he said you were goin' to run, but we couldn't hardly believe it," answered one of the neighbors.

"Why not?"

"Well, because mighty few men ever wanted the trouble and bother of workin' with a young teacher an' a lot of children. Besides there ain't a penny in it an' plenty of hard work if the man does his duty."

The candidate sat down on the frame of the grindstone under the big elm and quietly crossed his legs. For a time he was silent with an odd, bitter smile on his face. At length he arose and said:

"Any one of you men would fight if anybody told you that you really didn't love your children, wouldn't you?"

The men about him nodded their assent and he hurried on.

"You do love 'em; I know you do because I love mine, too. But boys, there's ever so many ways of lovin' children an' it's only lately that I've seen a new way to love 'em. My children have been goin' to school out at the little school house for five years an' I hardly ever gave 'em a thought. I voted for any ol' galoot that wanted to be trustee just like you have."

"What made you swap around in your ideas?" asked one of the men.

"Feedin' hogs an' keepin' my eyes open."

WOMAN'S DREAM IS TRUE AT LAST

She Knows Why Multi-Million- aires Offer to Divide Fortunes.

To be a sufferer from nervous dyspepsia for ten years, and to bear all the tortures, mental and physical, that this all too common ailment brings, and then to find relief almost over night, is like having a happy dream come true.

But this is the delightful experience of Mrs. Margaret Hunter, of 40 Eighteenth street, Newport, Ky. Mrs. Hunter, the wife of a well-known and highly successful real estate dealer in the Kentucky city, recently told of the long hoped for change in her life.

"For ten years," explained Mrs. Hunter, "I have suffered from nervous dyspepsia. When I read of the offers of multi millionaires to divide their fortunes if they might be cured of this terribly distressful malady, I felt that in this way they most eloquently told of their sufferings, and I felt, too, that I never would be cured, because I had no millions to offer.

"I used all manner of remedies without avail. Even the strictest dieting did not help me materially. Food in any form was absolutely repellant at most times. But worst of all, of course, was the constant nerve strain. I had all of the symptoms that dyspepsia causes—headaches, backaches, and pains in the kidney regions, nausea, dizziness, sleeplessness, bad taste in my mouth, a coated tongue, forming of gas in my stomach and bloating, and I was in a generally run-down and thoroughly nervous condition.

"And then came the joyful surprise. After the first few doses of Tanlac I was benefited. Now I am back to a normal condition, nerves quieted, restful sleep, and my food digesting as it should, and, of course I am gaining strength daily."

"My husband, who has seen the splendid effect of Tanlac on me, has also taken it."

Tanlac, that inspired this intensely interesting story, big in importance to men and women everywhere, now is being introduced in Cloverport, Ky., at Wedding's Drug Store, where it is being fully explained daily.

The Gentle Art of Smiling.

In the February Woman's Home Companion is an article on the necessity of teaching children to smile in infancy so they will not forget the habit.

"A mother had a little girl, her first child, who seemed to have been born with a scowl. Perfectly well, still she had a morose disposition which it seemed as though nothing could alter. When the second child was born, the mother made a rule that no one should look at the baby without a smile. With the imitation of childhood the baby at once began, even in her early weeks, to smile back, and as she grew, and the rule still held in the home, she developed into what everyone who knew her called 'the smiling baby,' and grew up with the sunniest disposition, a joy to everyone. Now what that mother did, any mother can do. A child may actually inherit a serious, even a sullen disposition, yet these may be crowded out while they are undeveloped, by the habit of cheerfulness."

Every Man His Own Assessor.

The Herald has contended for years that one of the main basic faults of our taxing system lies with the assessors or their deputies. We still believe we are right. Under the present taxing system every man is practically his own assessor. Frequently lists are scattered around among the taxpayers and collected again with little regard for the manner in which this should be done. Sometimes the property lister is not sworn; sometimes he is missed altogether. He lists his property without question or formality. In this way much property goes untaxed. The assessor makes a quick inconsequential job of a very important mission. And right here lies a big fault.—Hartford Herald.

SIX AMERICANS HANGED TO TREE

OUTLAWS OVERRUN COUNTRY

Mining Man Reaches Border With Grievous Tale of Outrages Upon
Americans by Mexican Bandits—
Carranza Authorities Helpless.

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 24.—Zapata bandits operating in Oaxaca, Mex., have caused a reign of terror among foreigners, particularly Americans, many of whom have been murdered or robbed, according to an affidavit made by an American mining man, Andrew J. Trumbo of Los Angeles, Cal., who made public a grievous tale of bandit outrages here.

Trumbo declares that he saw six bodies, said to be those of Americans, hanging from one tree, and two bodies swinging from another. The Carranza authorities are helpless and the country is being overrun by outlaws, he says.

At El Paso Trumbo related an account of the blowing up recently of a passenger train near Puebla with a loss of twenty-three lives.

"Twenty miles southwest of Ejutla I saw the bodies of six men hanging to trees, and I was told by Mexicans that they were Americans," Trumbo stated in his affidavit. "No one knew their names. About a quarter of a mile farther on I saw two more badly decomposed bodies hanging to a tree. I was told they also were Americans."

Conditions became so unbearable that he could not remain in the Mexican state with his family, Trumbo declared in his statement in explaining his departure from Mexico. He and his wife were mistreated and and insulted, he said.

"U. R. Burton, an American mining man," the affidavit says, "was forced to pay $1,000 gold and was then put in jail under penalty of death in order to extort more money. He refused and was later released. He fled to Tehuacan."

"Tom West, an American, was shot through the head by bandits at Tavi- che, but he recovered. S. Dilecar, a Frenchman, owner of a mercantile establishment in Oaxaca, while en route to the City of Mexico to purchase supplies, was held by General Aguilar and robbed of all his money, about 400,000 pesos, which is equivalent to $30,000 gold."

A Mr. Hamilton, an American mine owner at Tavi- che, suffered similarly, Trumbo said, because he possessed a passport signed by General Pablo Gonzales. He was released when he paid the ransom demanded, according to the affidavit.

Trumbo said Clifford Robinson, American consular agent at Oaxaca, knew of the outrages, but was unable to report them because Aguilar censored his mail.

CATTLE RUSTLERS EXECUTED

Mexican Murderers of Bert Akers,
American, Shot in Cemetery.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 24.—Punishment was meted out to the Mexican cattle rustlers who murdered Bert Akers at the Mexican village of San Lorenzo, twelve miles east of Juarez, according to General Gabriel Gaviere, commander of the Juarez garrison, who announced that Bernardo and Frederico Duran, the men who confessed to the killing, had been summarily executed in Juarez.

The execution, he said, took place at the Juarez cemetery. The Duran brothers, who were natives of New Mexico, had been in the Juarez jail since the killing. Instead of taking the case to civil courts the general put the case before a military tribunal and the verdict was death for the two men.

Before the verdict was returned the Juarez judge of letters, the civil official who ordinarily would have handled the case, was given an opportunity to read the testimony and the judgment of the military court was approved.

TURKEY ADMITS SINKING PERSIA

According to Unofficial Report
Reaching Washington.

ULTIMATUM WOULD FOLLOW

Believed Confirmation of Rumor Would Result in Note Demanding Disavowal of Punishment of Commander, and Reparation and Future Assurances.

Washington, Jan. 24.—According to an unofficial report, which reached here by the way of Amsterdam, Turkey admits that one of her submarines was responsible for the sinking of the Persia. Officials of the state department and Turkish embassy officials had no confirmation of the report.

In the opinion of many persons it would be to all intents and purposes an ultimatum demanding of Turkey under threat of an immediate severance of diplomatic relations, a prompt disavowal of punishment of the commander responsible, reparation and assurance for the future, the American note to Turkey would carry if it is established that a Turkish submarine sank the Persia.

The sinking of the Persia, coming on the heels of the destruction of the Italian steamer Ancona aroused widespread indignation.

Many here were inclined to regard the Amsterdam dispatch suspiciously, because of the fact that the United States has been without a shred of evidence to prove that the Persia was attacked by a submarine. For that reason the American government, though chafing under its helplessness, had practically resigned itself to the prospect that the tragedy would go down into history as one of the mysteries of the waters.

From affidavits in possession of the state department there was nothing to show whether the liner was attacked by a submarine, struck a mine or blew up from an internal explosion—nothing but the indefinite statement of Second Officer Bromley that he had seen the wake of a torpedo. There is nothing definite or indefinite to show that any one on the ill-fated steamer saw a submarine, much less to indicate the nationality of the submarine.

SEEKS PEACE WITH BELGIUM

Report Germany Is Ready to Make Separate Overtures.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Following closely on the inspired utterances in the Frankfurter Zeitung, suggesting that Germany is prepared to treat with Belgium for a separate peace, inquiry here in well informed quarters gave strong ground to believe that Germany is likewise sounding out Japan's willingness to listen to separate peace proposals.

Whether any direct overtures have been made to the Tokio government is not known, but in discussing the prospect members of the diplomatic corps in close touch with the far-eastern situation called attention to the fact that in recent weeks the Japanese newspapers apparently without objection from the government, have been indulging in more or less hostile criticism to Great Britain.

Tests With Potatoes.

A report has been received by the Department of Agriculture of tests made in Ireland in which potatoes were allowed to sprout before being planted. The average results obtained in every county in Ireland during the ten years of the experiment, showed that sprouted seed yielded twelve tons and unsprouted seed ten tons per acre. According to the tests the advantages of storing potatoes during the winter in sprouting boxes are as follows: (1) A substantial increase in yield; (2) planting may be deferred for a time in an unfavorable season without detriment to the crop; (3) several weeks' growth is secured in the boxes previous to planting; the first bud is preserved, which results in the crop making rapid growth when planted, enabling it to smother weeds; (4) the crop is usually ready for lifting several weeks before that from unsprouted seed; (5) seed potatoes can be safely and conveniently stored in boxes and easily examined for the removal of unsound tubers or for the detection of those of other varieties which may have been accidentally introduced.—Farmers Home Journal.

BEING ON TIME IN CLOVERPORT.

There is nothing that helps a community more than to have citizens who are always on time. It is no longer considered stylish to be late and the most elegant people take particular pains to be on time at church, at every public meeting and at every social event. "Go early" is the slogan now and this popular effort is reaching Cloverport. People are trying to form the habit of being on time every place they go—not only trying to, but are making a point to get ready and be ready on time. Tardiness has been sapping the life out of the Cloverport schools for the last ten years and generation after generation has gone to school late. But through efforts of the teachers and the Parent-Teachers Association, the importance of being on time at school is being instilled in the minds of the boys and girls who go to school today. To be welcomed be on time, to be successful in business, be on time, to make your home pleasant, be ready for the meals, to set the best example, never go late to church. Better late than never is the worst possible excuse and the most we can do to be our best is to be never late. Being on time in Cloverport at church, at school, at home, at the lodge and at the club, is what we all are trying to do. Go early and you can not fail.

THE ANTI-PASS BILL.

The constitution prohibits members of the Legislature and all other officials from riding on free railroad passes. It ought to have been incorporated in a statute a long time ago with penalties for its violation. The provision of the constitution was made a part of the Democratic State platform and we are firmly of the opinion that it should be passed by this Legislature, both because a party should redeem its pledges to the people and because the Constitution demands it. But as the constitution did not mention newspaper men or other private citizens in its provision as the platform does not do that either, we can see no reason why the law should go beyond what is demanded of both. Certainly the press should have the right to make contracts for transportation in exchange for advertising and to prohibit it would show an animus upon the part of the Legislature against the newspapers which they should be far from having. The press does a great deal for the State and also for those who are elected to office and all it asks is fair treatment. If it does not get that, it has a way of its own of sending politicians to the bone yard of oblivion.—Elizabethtown News.

HABIT—THE SERVANT.

Correct habits depend largely on self-discipline, and often self-denial, bad habits, like weeds, spring up, unaided and untrained, to choke the plans of virtue, and, as Canadian thistles, allowed to go to seed in a fair meadow, we may have "one day's seeding, ten years' weeding." How fortunate that the science of habit-forming is not more generally known by parents and taught in our schools, colleges and universities. It is a science, compared with which other departments of education sink into insignificance. Every act repeated, makes us more likely to perform that act, and discovers in our wonderful mechanism a tendency to perpetual repetition, whose facility increases in exact proportion to the repetition. Finally the original act becomes voluntary from a natural reaction. All through our lives the brain is constantly educating different parts of the body to form habits which will work automatically from reflex action.

Men carelessly or playfully get into habits of speech which become so natural that they speak or act as they do not intend, to their own discomfort.

Beware of "small sins" or "white lies."

ACTIVE SPRING TRADE.

In a recent issue of the New York Sun it says that indications are reported for an active spring trade. Except in isolated cases there is no evidence that high prices are as yet lessening consumption and it is significant that the prevailing disposition is still to contract ahead. Many traveling salesmen are sending in larger orders than usual and in some sections, forward business is developing with exceptional rapidity. This not only indicates depleted merchandise stocks in distributing channels, but also affords convincing proof of general confidence in the future.

All signs point to a very active spring trade, while current demands for heavy weight apparel and other seasonable goods are stimulated by continued cold weather over a wide area of the country. Wholesale trade in spring goods, opening earlier than usual, is satisfactory; road salesmen report marked success in booking orders, and the outlook for thriving business is such as to evoke but few dissenting notes.

DOLLAR DAY FEBRUARY 29.

The Dollar Club has been established by the Kentucky Sunday School Association, of Louisville, for the purpose of strengthening the state, county and district organizations, to increase the Sunday school membership of the state. You can become a charter member by contributing one dollar on or before February 29, 1916.

The Breckenridge Loose Leaf Tobacco Warehouse is making a record on sales, good treatment and fair prices. It is making a market for tobacco that is attracting new buyers and handlers every week. The big concerns, who were never before represented, are now buying on this market and are pleased with the grades and types of tobacco. Farmers and tobacco growers should attend these sales to find out what types of tobaccos are needed and are bringing the best prices. Then go home and try to raise these types. If they can't raise the kind that brings the best price, don't raise any at all.

Cloverport needs a loose leaf tobacco house. There is no better point in the State than right here for a loose leaf house, a good one, with plenty of capital and push behind it.

Drys Claim First Heat In Having Bill Favorably Reported

ANTI-PASS GOES THRU

Much Interest Over Woman Suffrage—Stanley County Will Likely Be Made—A Business Session.

Frankfort, Ky. (Special).—State-wide prohibition, woman suffrage and an anti-pass bill are the paramount issues to be settled at this session of the Kentucky General Assembly.

There has hardly been a day since the 1916 session opened but that these three matters have been mentioned or referred to in resolutions, bills and the like.

The "wets" claim that a show-down on the liquor question was forced too early for the good of a business administration, but the "drys" claim they are determined to know where every member stands at the earliest possible date.

Elated over their victory in having the State-wide bill favorably reported by the Senate committee, the "drys" gave the administration the biggest surprise of their lives and staged a battle of more than ordinary interest, although it may be short and decisive.

Dr. Norman A. Palmer, Superintendent of the Kentucky Anti-Saloon League, and Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, President of the Kentucky Woman's Christian Temperance Union, have been on the ground since the opening of the Legislature. It is said that the usual paid lobbyists of the distillers have not made their appearance yet, but they are expected to get active soon. In the last Legislature of 1912 the State-wide question was deferred until the closing days of the General Assembly.

Drastic enough to remedy the evils so long complained of by the people, the administration's anti-lobby, anti-trust and corrupt practice measures have been introduced in both Houses and will be pushed by Governor Stanley, who pledged himself to see that they were enacted.

The bill to reimburse Kentuckians for cattle destroyed in stamping out the epidemic of foot and mouth disease is expected to pass both Houses with little opposition. It provides $68,000 to cover these losses sustained by farmers. Similar bills have been passed by fourteen States.

Representative Frank C. Greene, of Carrollton, has said that he will oppose the Arthur Rouse, Burlington, for the renomination to Congress from the Sixth District. Greene is also determined to push his "Jim Crow" bill, providing for the separation of street cars with compartments for negroes.

Judge James M. Benton has made it known that he does not intend to oppose Representative J. Campbell Cantrill, of the Seventh District, in event he is not selected to succeed the late Justice Lamar on the Supreme bench by President Wilson. He was supported for the latter place by all except three of the Kentucky delegation in Congress.

The fight of the dry forces in the Legislature to secure the passage of a State-wide amendment for prohibition is only the initial struggle that will be waged during this session.

A bill is to be introduced to prohibit the manufacture of intoxicating liquors in Kentucky.

The constitution is silent on the question of the manufacture of intoxicating liquors. The sale, barter or loan is permitted by Section 61 of the constitution, but the word "manufacture" was left out, so that the dry forces claim that a bill to prohibit the manufacture may be passed by a majority vote. It is in the hands of Senator Frost and Representative Hamilton, who introduced the State-wide bills in the Senate and House respectively.

Judge Joe E. Williams, of McCreary County, is in Frankfort claiming that the impeachment charges are "utterly groundless" and says that he is there to answer them in person.

The Advertisers' Clubs of Louisville and Lexington are active in having a bill introduced providing for a penalty for fraudulent advertising similar to the city ordinances which the clubs have, respectively, succeeded in getting through the city councils of each city.

Congressman A. W. Barkley has introduced a bill in Congress "to prevent the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors in the District of Columbia" and says that it is his intention to push the bill to turn the national capital dry. He said that it was a mistake to accuse Kentucky as being a "whiskey State," for 114 out of 120 counties are dry.

It is regarded as somewhat novel that a member of Congress from the State that produces more whiskey than any other in the Union, and has three-fifths of all the whiskey in the United States in its bonded warehouses, should champion the cause of prohibition, according to Washington dispatches.

Claiming to have saved the sum of $200,000 for the people of the State in fire insurance, the State Insurance Board has issued a statement showing that during the past four years the reduction in Kentucky is 5 cents more on the hundred dollars of insurance than the average for the whole country. The total amount of insurance covered by the policies in Kentucky is about $400,000,000 annually.

A property classification bill to conform with the ideas of the best posted persons in a number of States will shortly be introduced, according to Chairman W. A. Perry, of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The measure providing for the working of convicts on the State roads, which was adopted as a constitutional amendment at the November election, is receiving favorable comment, and provisions will be made for the carrying out of it.

Indorsed by Governor Stanley and Attorney General Logan, the anti-pass bill introduced by Representative Stricklett, of Covington, passed the Senate by a vote of 27 to 7 after being amended to permit use exchange of railroad passes for advertising space in the newspapers. If the bill passes the House it becomes effective January 1, 1917.

A fine of not less than $500 nor more than $2,500 and a jail sentence of not less than ten days nor more than thirty days for any railroad company furnishing passes. A forfeiture of office and a fine of from $100 to $500 for any state official accepting free transportation.

The bill is one of the strong Democratic party pledges and was the first to be read into the Senate calendar.

To make the provision for the exchange of passes from the railroads with the newspapers for advertising, James B. Stears, of Nicholasville, President of the Kentucky Press Association, and G. B. Senff, of Mt. Sterling, Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the association, called on Governor Stanley to urge him not to oppose this amendment.

The General Assembly has extended an invitation to President Woodrow Wilson to address a joint session at his convenience. He has also been invited to attend a meeting that will be given by the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission. He has accepted the invitation if it is possible for him to do so.

Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, President of the Illiteracy Commission, will probably address a joint session of the General Assembly Thursday, February 17, as a joint resolution was offered in the Senate by President Pro Tem. Combs inviting her.

At the request of Covington ministers, a bill was introduced by Representative Green, of Carroll County, prohibiting the use of screens and blinds which now protect the interior of saloons from public view. It is claimed that the bill will enable the "drys" to better handle the liquor problem in that locality.

In an effort to carry out the Republican campaign pledges, Representative Stone, of Crittenden County, introduced a bill which will be pushed for the abolishment of the State Fire Marshal Department.

Announcing his candidacy for Congress in the Eighth District, Representative George L. Pickett, of Shelbyville, a cousin of Governor Stanley, says that he is going to give Congressman Harvey Helm the battle of his life.

A house-to-house canvass will be made all over the state by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union securing signers to petitions requesting the Legislature to pass the amendment providing for a statewide vote on prohibition. It is their plan to send a petition of at least 1,000 names to the General Assembly each day.

Mrs. Beatrice Hale, of New York, one of the leading suffragists of the country, received a warm welcome on her visit to the State Capital and in her address to the joint session of the General Assembly. She was introduced by Lieutenant Governor James D. Black.

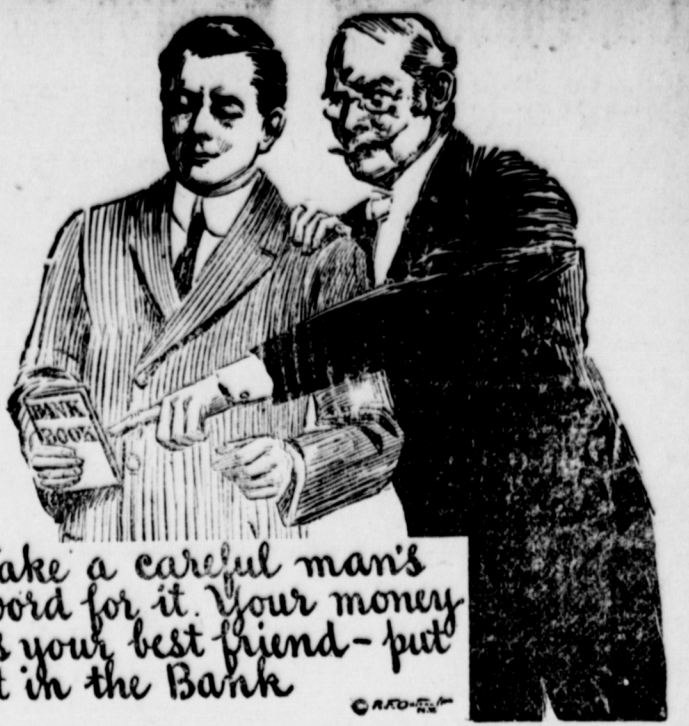

Suffrage leaders claim an abundance of confidence in passing their bill providing for a statewide vote next year.

Statewide prohibition was given a start in the Senate when the Senate Committee on Constitutional Amendments decided to report favorably Senator Frost's bill providing for the amendment to be submitted to the people of Kentucky at the 1917 election.

The vote on the committee, which was taken in executive session, was: For, Williams, Montgomery, Frost, Antle; against, Knight, Littrell and Stricklett. Senator Zimmerman refrained from voting.

One hundred citizens from Pike County arrived in Frankfort to use their concerted action against the proposed bill to divide the county and make Stanley County out of the partition. They appeared before the General Assembly in a body.

It is claimed that it will be a constitutional impossibility to divide the county since Pike County at present contains only 785.55 square miles. This question, however, is in dispute, and it will have to be determined by the Virginia line. The constitution provides that a county must contain at least 400 square miles.

GERMANS RAID ENGLISH COAST

One Killed, Six Injured In Two Aerial Attacks.

TURKS ATTACKED AT ESSIAN

After Furious Battle In Heavy Rain, British Force Entrenches Itself Within Lines of Ottoman Troops—Russ Deal Heavy Blows To Turks.

London, Jan. 24.—Two raids were made on England by German aeroplanes. In the first of the two raids, which was made on the east coast of Kent, one man was killed and two men, one woman and three children slightly injured. All the casualties were among the civilians. No military damage was done, but fires caused by incendiary bombs damaged private property. The fires were all extinguished an hour later.

In the second raid, made upon the same locality by two aeroplanes, no one was injured and no damage was done. This raid was reported officially by the war office as follows:

"Following the aerial attack on the east coast of Kent, two hostile aeroplanes made a second attack on the same locality. After coming under heavy fire the raiders disappeared and were pursued by our naval and military machines. The enemy effected no damage."

General Alymer's relief force attacked the Turks who are strongly entrenched at Tssian, six miles east of Kut-el-Amara, where the main British army, to whose aid the relief force is trying to hasten, is bottled up. A violent battle ensued in which success alternated between Britons and Turks. The fighting lasted all day. Torrents of rain causing floods prevented a renewal of the attack the following day, but General Alymer's force managed to entrench itself a little more than two-thirds of a mile within the Turkish lines.

This attack was the fourth to be launched by the relief force against the Turks at Essian since the Ottoman troops were driven to that position in the first week of this month.

Meanwhile the operations in Armenia, where the Russians, during the last week have made important gains and at last accounts were driving the Turks westward before them, promise more and more to influence the situation in Persia. The Russians have inflicted several crushing defeats on the Turks since Grand Duke Nicholas took the chief command. They have transferred the momentum of their offensive over the Caucasian border into Armenia, where they are now attacking Erzerum, an important city in the interior.

Thus, the Russian offensive in that part of the near eastern theater presents a growing menace to Asiatic Turkey. Southeast of Erzerum front, around Lake Van, the Muscovites have been proportionately successful of late, though the Turkish lines appear on the whole to have held their lines. On the western front the French war office announces nothing of importance to report.

WE SHOULDN'T WORRY A MINUTE

"I wish my foresight was as good as my hindsight," exclaimed the farmer as he pushed his pass book through the grating to the banker.

"Hog market bothering you?" asked the banker, sympathetically.

"No, it's the children this time."

"None of them sick, I hope?" continued the banker.

"No, but they have all grown up faster than I calculated they would. Here's Mary, that was a baby only the other day, seems to me, and now she's through all the grades and ready for High School. Say, why under the sun haven't we got a High School in this neighborhood?"

"Oh, I don't know. Seems to me there's lots of reasons. First and foremost, we haven't ever had one, and, in the second place, taxes are just about as high as folks will stand for. Anyhow, you're doing pretty well, and so am I, so what's the use of worrying about it?"

"Confound you and the way you look at the whole proposition," exclaimed the farmer as he brought his fist down on the counter. "You say it will raise the taxes. I know that just as well as you or anybody else, I reckon. I know, too, that I myself have made that same old, lame excuse for not having better schools. You say I'm making money on the farm, and you're making money here in the bank, so we shouldn't worry a bit. Man alive, the trouble with both of us and a lot of other folks is, that we've let the dollar in our eye get so big that we can't see around it at all. We're self-satisfied and we're willing to farm and to bank and make money and let things kinder drift."

"Say, look here," exclaimed the banker, "you're doing a whole lot of talking, but you haven't given me any real idea of what started this big spam of yours."

"I'll tell you how it started. It started with the kids at home getting big and demanding things for themselves. It all happened before I had any idea that they were anywhere near old enough to do much thinking for themselves. Let me tell you, kids ain't half the fools grown folks think they are. As I told you awhile ago, Mary's finished at the little country school at the cross roads and she says she's going to High School. Of course, it wouldn't be a hard matter for us to send Mary off to school, but by the time she'll be ready to graduate from High School, both of the other children would be away from home, too, getting an education."

"Of course, neither my wife nor I want to be left on the farm by ourselves. To tell you the honest truth, my wife is going to go with the kids when they go, and you can bet your bottom dollar I'm not going to try to hold down the farm by myself. All of this simply means that I've got to pull up stakes and move into town somewhere when I'm just in my prime and the farm paying better than ever before. I don't know a blessed thing I can do in town, so I'll have to loaf and potter around and worry a lot because I'll know the farm won't be kept up like I've kept it."

"But why do you say that you have got to go?" asked the banker.

"Because," answered the farmer slowly and thoughtfully, "because I believe way down deep in my heart that every child in this country that wants the advantages of a good education is entitled to it, if it is possible to give it to him. I wouldn't do anything on top of this earth to hinder any of my children from getting all the education they want."

"What's bothering me now is that every mother son of us has been mighty short-sighted, to say the least. Why haven't I, why haven't you had gumption enough to see this thing coming toward us all the time? I've been busy farming and you've been busy watching your money grow as it goes out over the counter and comes back again. I'm a successful farmer and everybody knows you are a dandy banker, but I'm mighty sure and certain that we ain't just what we ought to be as parents."

"But you forget there's another side to—"

"Hold on a minute, Mr. Banker, hold on. There ain't any other side to this question; there never was and never will be any other side to it. I want to tell you that I've been running this thing over in my mind a whole lot in the past few weeks and there ain't any other side to the question. The whole thing is as plain as the nose on your face. Here it is. The child has a mind and it is the only thing that'll save it from being a nobody and a failure in life. So when the child says it wants that mind trained neither you nor I nor anybody else has got any right to get in the child's way."

"Perhaps there is something in what you say. It might—"

"Perhaps, nothing," exclaimed the farmer. "You and I and every other man down in this part of the country have hurt and crippled enough fine children who simply couldn't get away so they could be really educated. Besides we have run lots and lots of the best of them away and they didn't ever come back, either. Mine are going away, and I don't know whether they will ever come back, and I can't blame them one bit. Perhaps, you say, perhaps, my goodness, man, here we are living in an age when an education is everything and we kill all chances in life for our children before they really get started in life. Perhaps, why we ain't as good as painted savages, because they don't know any better."

A High Priced Fricassee.

Lord Alvanley, a noted wit and high liver in England a hundred years or so ago, insisted on having an apple tart on his dinner table every day throughout the year. On one occasion he paid a caterer $1,000 for a luncheon put up in a basket that sufficed a small boating party going up the Thames. Being one of a dozen men dining together at a London club where each was required to produce his own dish, Alvanley's, as the most expensive, won him the advantage of being entertained free of cost. This benefit was gained at an expense of $540, that being the price of a simple fricassee composed entirely of the "noix," or small pieces at each side of the back, taken from thirteen kinds of birds, among them being 100 snipe, 40 woodcocks and 20 pheasants—altogether about 300 birds.

Claivoyant Arrested.

Paducah, Ky. (Special): According to advice received from Chicago "Professor" E. B. Palmer, a clairvoyant wanted here on a charge of stealing $380 from Mr. and Mrs. George Koerner of this city, is under arrest in the Windy City.

A PRINCESS MODEL.

A charming one piece gown which simulates a jacket effect is shown in this illustration made of blue serge and trimmed with braid and buttons. The skirt is attached to a yoke which does not extend across the front. Of course this garment must have a very well cut foundation.

Constipation and Indigestion.

"I have used Chamberlain's Tablets and must say they are the best I have ever used for constipation and indigestion. My wife also used them for indigestion and they did her good," writes Eugene S. Knight, Willington, N. C. Obtainable everywhere.

IDENTIFYING CRIMINALS.

The System Devised by Bertillon and the Way It is Worked.

Any malefactor who gets into the clutches of the law nowadays is a marked man for life if he runs up against the Bertillon system, which is a scientific method devised by M. Alphonse Bertillon for the identification of criminals. Bertillon was born in Paris in 1853. Certain measurements are taken from every convicted person, and these physical records of prisoners are kept on cards, any one of which can readily be found by an elaborate system of classification.

The measurements are taken on the left side of the subject, as they are less liable to alterations than are those on the right side. The determination of the convict's height is taken always at the same hours, because the stature may be as much as half an inch greater after a night's sleep than it is in the evening. The color of the iris of the eye and the characteristic lines made by the print of the finger are also recorded.

The following measurements are made: The length and width of head; the length of the left foot and of the middle and little fingers of the left hand; the stature of the whole body, as well as the length of its upper and lower portions; the span of the outstretched arms; the length and breadth of the left ear and the length of the left arm.

The system has been used in Paris since 1880 and is now employed by all important police departments in this country.—Exchange.

Poultry Parasites.

You keep the chicken house clean to keep the parasites off the chickens. You spray to kill germs—but what do you do to get the germs and parasites inside the chickens? Hens especially show it at moulting time and during the winter. How can you expect them to lay? Free them from all internal parasites by feeding B. A. Thomas Poultry Powder occasionally. If it doesn't make your hens happy, we will return your money. For sale at Wedding's Drug Store, Cloverport, Ky.

Mayfield, Ky. (Special): At a meeting of the city council the five members composing the board since the suicide of Councilman G. H. Kennedy a week ago, elected Roy Morhead to fill the vacancy.

IMPRISONMENT FOR DEBT.

This Old Time Punishment Was Costly to the Community.

Imprisonment for debt was abolished by congress in the United States in 1833, though this measure was not fully enforced until 1839.

In nearly every country until comparatively recent times debtors have been subject to imprisonment. After the panic of 1825 101,000 writs for debt were issued in England. In 1830 7,000 persons were sent to London prisons for debt, and on Jan. 1, 1910, 1,700 persons were held for debt in England and Wales, 1,000 in Ireland and less than 100 in Scotland. From time to time modifications in the laws governing the imprisonment of debtors have been made, so that fewer debtors are imprisoned for this crime each year.

In 1829 there were 3,000 debtors in prison in Massachusetts, 10,000 in New York, 7,000 in Pennsylvania, 3,000 in Maryland and a like proportion in other states. Many of these persons were jailed for debts of $1.

The law providing for the imprisonment of men who could not pay their debts was shown to be impracticable by statistics taken from Philadelphia, where in 1828 there were 1,085 debtors imprisoned for debts amounting to $25,000. The expenses of keeping these persons in confinement was $362,000, which was paid by the city, and the amount recovered by this method was $295.—Philadelphia Press.

The Gist of It.

"Last December I had a very severe cold and was nearly down sick in bed. I bought two bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it was only a very few days until I was completely restored to health," writes O. J. Metcalf, Weatherby, Mo. If you would know the value of this remedy, ask any one who has used it. Obtainable everywhere.

The Battle of Chalons.

There have been so many bloody battles it is perhaps impossible to say with absolute certainty which of them all was the bloodiest, but the balance of the evidence seems to be in favor of the battle of Chalons, France, fought A. D. 451 between the Huns, under Attila, and the Romans, Goths and Franks, under the command of Aetius, the most renowned captain of his day. At the head of his 500,000 savages Attila was having everything his own way, and it looked as if Aryan civilization was destined to fall before the Tartar despotism, when suddenly, like a bolt out of the blue, Aetius fell upon the barbaric hordes and Europe was saved. It is estimated that 400,000 of the barbarians were left dead on the field.

LITERARY FORGERIES.

Stuff With Which Vrain-Lucas Duped An Aged Scientist.

The most remarkable literary forgery on record was perpetrated in 1870 on Michael Charles, a French scientist of European reputation. Charles, who was in his dotage, purchased within a few years from one Vrain-Lucas no fewer than 27,000 autographs. A. M. Bradley tells the story in his "Chats on Autographs."

"Beginning with a supposed correspondence between the youthful Newton and Pascal, Vrain-Lucas proceeded to fabricate letters of Rabelais, Montesquieu and La Bruyere. Before he had finished M. Charles became the possessor of letters in French, and written on paper made in France, of Julius Caesar, Cleopatra, Mary Magdalene and even of Lazarus after his resurrection."

Vrain-Lucas was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, and among other forged manuscripts from his pen there were produced in court letters from Alexander the Great, Herod, Pompey, Judas Iscariot, Sappho, Pontius Pilate and Joan of Arc.

Battlecry of the Cat.

The piercing wailing of the cat in the night startles and exasperates us beyond all bearing—not by its loudness, but by a certain vicious, weird, half terrifying, half infuriating note in it that makes us spring to arms with the bootjack or other substitute for the boomerang, as the warwhoop of our tribal enemies did a century or centuries ago, says Dr. Woods Hutchinson.

One of Mark Twain's wise old frontiersmen had caught this note when he explained to the tenderfoot that animal speech had rules of composition and grammar, just like human speech, and that "the reason a cat riles you so ain't on account of the noise she makes, but on account of the sickening bad grammar she uses." And he was right, for the grammar of scarp lifting and the whole alphabet of battle, murder and sudden death tangles and screams in the rasping cry.

Prevent Hog Cholera.

The B. A. Thomas Hog Powder has a record of 95% cures of Hog Cholera. If you feed your hogs as directed, you need never fear hog cholera nor any other hog disease. And the directions are very simple, just about what you are doing, plus a few cents worth of B. A. Thomas Hog Powder in the feed twice a week.

Usually, though, Cholera gets in before we know it. Then it requires close attention to each hog—each hog must be dosed—and if you will dose them as directed, you will save better than 90 per cent. If you don't, the B. A. Thomas medicine costs you nothing. We—not some distant manufacturer—pay your money back. For sale at Wedding's Drug Store, Cloverport, Ky.

PREDICT 40-CENT GASOLINE

Oil Men Declare Oil Production Faces a Famine.

Dallas, Tex. (Special): M. N. Baker, prominent Texas-Oklahoma oil operator, and chairman of the Dallas park board, has returned from Oklahoma alarmed over the decrease in oil production. He predicts gasoline will go to 40 cents per gallon in the near future and oil by-products 35 to 50 per cent higher than at any time in the history of the United States.

"In other words the United States," he said, "and especially Texas and the southwest, faces an oil famine. It is not coming; it is already here."

Shacks For Consumptives at Western Kentucky Asylum For the Insane

At the state asylum for the insane at Hopkinsville it was found some years ago that many of the patients were afflicted with consumption. The authorities consequently built two groups of buildings to accommodate the consumptive cases.

A central building, to provide a dining room, bathrooms, etc., was surrounded by groups of shacks, each having beds for three patients. The lower fourth of each side of the shacks was boarded up, and the section above was formed of canvas stretched over frames. These canvas screens were made in sections fastened at the top with hinges, so that any side might be opened to admit the fresh air and sunlight.

Dr. H. P. Sights, superintendent of the hospital, states that the death rate at the asylum has been decreased 40 per cent by the use of these buildings for the consumptives, and that many of the consumptives have been returned to the main building restored and some have been sent home restored both physically and mentally.

The two groups of buildings, accommodating fifty-six patients, were built for less than $8,000. Dr. Sights says further: "I think every county in the state should have a tuberculosis colony, and the county officials, who will take the time to look into the benefit offered their citizens, would not hesitate to take steps at once to establish such a colony, and do the greatest service possible for them to do with the amount invested. It will not be an experiment, as this state institution, with its limited funds, demonstrated fully the wisdom and economy of the project."

MAKING PROGRESS

THESE happy, healthy looking children were sent to this open air school in Louisville a little time ago because they were run down and anaemic. Warmly clothed and provided with special diet, they do their school tasks in a room with the windows wide open, so that the wind can blow over them. Without exception these children make rapid progress in school and improve in health almost beyond belief.

A SIMPLE SLEEPING PORCH

WHEN you build your new home plan to have a sleeping porch. If you do not like hot summer nights and stuffy winter nights indoors, build a sleeping porch like the one above on your present home. Place it in an angle so as to avoid drafts. The southeast or southwest side of the house is best. The sides should be boarded up three or four feet to insure privacy and a reasonable freedom from drafts. The upper part should be covered with wire netting. Outside the netting hang canvas strips that can be raised or lowered from the inside.

A porch of this sort can be made for from $50 to $100, depending on the kind of finish and material used.

HE DWELT IN PEACE.

Revolutions in Haiti Didn't Bother the Old Ducky Settler.

During one of the revolutions in Haiti a party of Americans made a riding tour of the mountains. One morning a member of the party suddenly drew rein and pointed to a lone ridge where an old tattered stars and stripes fluttered on a bamboo pole.

"We must pay our respects," some one said.

After some search they found a path that zigzagged up to the wild place. They followed it and at last discovered an aged negro sitting before his wretched hut smoking his pipe, while he kept an eye on the flag.

"What's the flag for?" some one asked.

"Perfection," said the old man quietly. "I heah dey done begin anudder resolution, so I put it up. Yes, sah, I come hear twenty-two years ago, an' has dat flag wid me. I'm George, cook on a steamer outer Savannah.

ADMIRAL ROBERT E. PEARY

Is Planning Aerial Patrols on Pacific and Atlantic Coasts.

PLANS AERIAL COAST GUARD

Rear Admiral Peary Authorized to Organize Committee.

New York, Jan. 24.—Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary's plan to establish aerial coast patrols on the Atlantic and Pacific seaboard, and along the Great Lakes, to be used in time of peace as an adjunct to the coast guard and life-saving service and in time of war as an expedient for defense, took definite form here when the Aero Club of America authorized him to organize a committee of army, navy and state militia authorities to further the project.

Portland, Me., according to officials of the Aero Club, already has raised a fund of $10,000 for establishing a unit of the patrol system.

INTERNATIONAL LAW MODIFICATION ASKED

Pan-American Declaration of Principles.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The first step has been taken in the direction of the movement recently urged by Elihu Root for the gradual modification of international law.

The American Institute of International Law has made public a resolution which, it has unanimously laid down for the acceptance of the entire world principles of right and justice which should be followed in the conduct of international affairs.

It would be impossible, if they were in effect and observed by the nations, to have a recurrence of the invasion of Belgium, or Greece or the submarine attacks on American life on the high seas.

In the drafting of the principles there has been no thought of dealing with specific cases. The pronouncement is set out at this time as a basis for discussion of the problem of rights of neutrals.

While the institute is in no sense an official agency, its active membership made up of five authorities from each American nation and represents the best international law opinion of the American nations. The fact that the action of the institute was unanimous on declaration of principles is further evidence of pan-American solidarity.

MAN AND WIFE DIE IN GARAGE

Were Asphyxiated by Gasoline Fumes After Pleasure Ride.

Bellefonte, Pa., Jan. 24.—Victims of petromortis, William H. Noll and his bride of a few days, were found dead in Noll's garage.

Mrs. Noll was sitting in the automobile and the husband was standing alongside the car leaning over the door. Both had been dead several hours. They were last seen alive when, after a drive, Noll ran the car into the garage. The authorities say they were overcome by the fumes of gasoline and asphyxiated.

DUEL WITH GERMS MAY END CHICAGO DOCTORS' DISPUTE.

Challenge For Combat to Death With Bacilli Has Been Issued.

"Gentlemen, choose your germs!"

It is a duel with disease laden bacteria as the weapons. The principals are Dr. John Dill Robertson, Chicago health commissioner, and Dr. Charles E. M. Fischer. Time, place and seconds have not been agreed upon yet.

A question of medical honor and the public health is at stake. The challenge calls for a settlement of the question by a test of bacteriological knowledge, with vindication for the winner and disease and possibly death for the loser.

Here is the challenge:

"As there appears to be no satisfactory end in sight to the controversy which seems to have arisen between us regarding our respective abilities to diagnose the micro-organisms responsible for our present grippe epidemic, I am herewith suggesting a means by which we may arrive at a conclusion satisfactory to ourselves and the public. I submit for your consideration the following conditions of a demonstration:

"First.—We will both personally prepare five cultures of germs, all of common type, three of them nonpathogenic and two of them pathogenic.

"Second.—Through a referee mutually selected, we will exchange the prepared cultures.

"Third.—Each of us will personally examine and diagnose the cultures and pick out the three harmless ones.

"Fourth.—To show our faith in our ability to pick out the harmless germs from the dangerous ones, we will inoculate ourselves with the three cultures we select as the safe ones."

The challenge comes as a development of the exchange of verbal brickbats which has been going on for some weeks between Drs. Fischer and Robertson.

The two physicians are so much alike in appearance that mutual friends who often mistake them for one another, call them the "doubles." On the other hand, they are so unlike in their opinions on matters pertaining to the public health that they are most always opposed to one another on any question of proper living.

DOESN'T LIKE BACHELORS.

Priest Says They Are Seldom of Value to Any Community.

Bumps for bachelors are handed out by the Rev. H. M. O'Neil, pastor of the Holy Name church of Elmsburg, Pa.

"The bachelor," says Father O'Neil, "is usually of little value to any community."

"Bachelors seldom accomplish much in life."

"Bachelors are not at the head of great governments or in work for the betterment of the world."

"Bachelors are not leaders in civic affairs."

"Bachelors, going on in their selfishness, rarely do their share for humanity."

"The bachelor can generally well be spared."

The sermon was incidental to the first mission of the leap year and was addressed to unmarried men.

BACK BROKEN. NOW WALKS.

Dr. Keath's Pluck Saved Him, Philadelphia Physicians Say

Dr. Jim Keath, the Jefferson Medical college student whose back was broken two years ago when he fell from a third story window, was able to walk alone the other day for the first time. Surgeons and nurses congratulated him as he proceeded a hundred feet along a corridor.

Just after the fall his life was despaired of by the surgeons, but his pluck, they say, carried him along. After a time he could sit up, and after that he was wheeled in a chair every day to and from the recitation room.

At his graduation last June he was carried to the platform to receive his diploma.

VILLA FOUGHT HIS WAY TO DICTATOR

From an Illiterate Bandit He Rose to Make Mexico Tremble.

ESTEEMED BY POOR PEONS.

One of the Most Noted Soldiers of Fortune That His Country Has Ever Known, He Joined Forces With Whom He Pleased, Only to Be Hunted in the End as a Common Outlaw.

General Francisco Villa, known as Pancho to Mexico's warring peons, who is reported to have been captured by Carranza forces, has had a surprising career. In four years he rose from an illiterate bandit to the dictatorship of most of the country ruled before him by Spain, by Iturbide, Santa Anna, Diaz, Madero and Huerta.

He has been outlaw, revolutionary man of destiny, reclamer of the peons' lands, possessor of the republic's chief executive power, dealer with foreign governments, discredited wader of civil war and outlaw again within that time.

His real name was Doroteo Orango, or Arango. He was born in 1868 in the small mining town of Las Nieves, in the state of Durango. He stayed in the village until the death of his father, a meat dealer, for whom he herded cattle. Then he became the protector of his mother and sister against the bands of raiders, bandit and federal, that infested the state.

Killed His Sister's Abductor.

The story is that, riding as a cowboy at this time, he returned to find the colonel of a regiment of Porfirio Diaz's soldiers, which had visited the town, had carried off his sister. Villa pursued, caught them and enforced a marriage ceremony. Then he told his brother-in-law to dig his own grave, sign his own death certificate and shot him as he stood beside the mound of earth.

He escaped the regiment, took to the mountains and gathered about him a small group of bandits having, like himself, a hardy mixture of Spanish and Indian blood. They successfully waged an irregular war of depredation upon the wealthy landowners of the state. The peons came to look upon him as their champion against the rich.

At the outbreak of the Madero revolt against Diaz in 1910 Villa, uninvited, joined the forces of the idealist, who later was murdered by Huerta. Madero did not fancy a follower of Villa's type, but the latter forced himself into prominence by his daring and military cunning. Later, dissatisfied with Madero's executive acts, Villa began a revolt of his own. Against him Madero sent General Huerta. Each despised the other. Huerta arrested Villa and had him condemned to death. This order countermanded by Madero. Villa was imprisoned in Mexico City, but soon escaped to Texas.

Almost immediately he recrossed the Rio Grande with two companions, six horses, not purchased, $7 in money and a small supply of beans, sugar and coffee. Less than one year later he commanded a well equipped army of almost 20,000, had a war chest of millions and within two years controlled most of northern Mexico.

His star rose from this time. His forces were augmented by the overthrow of Madero in the City of Mexico by Huerta. He began to act in co-operation with the revolution started in February, 1913, by Venustiano Carranza in Coahuila. Early in 1914 he entered Ojinaga, several thousand federalists, including many generals, fleeing across the border to be interned.

Trouble With United States.

The shooting, some say by Villa himself, of William S. Benton, an English ranchman, in this same month brought Villa into his first serious trouble with the United States government. His guilt in this was never officially established.

With Huerta forced from Mexican control and the ascendancy of Carranza as first chief of the Constitutionalists, Villa began a new revolt in July, 1914. In September fighting between his forces and Carranzistas began in Sonora. A month later war was openly declared by the two factions.

General Obregon, Carranza's right hand man, captured Puebla from Villa early in 1915.

Carranza was again in control of Mexico City by July, from which he had been forced earlier in the year by Villistas and Zapatistas, and Villa's power was limited to a small territory in the north. His last hope of holding sway in Mexico ended with the announcement that the United States would recognize the Carranza government as in control, de facto, of the republic.

Since then Villa became the bitter enemy of this country, although it was announced once that he would retire. The killing of eighteen Americans in cold blood by Villistas recently led to imperative demands upon Carranza by Washington for Villa's elimination, and the last weeks have seen him hunted, as he never was before when outlawed, in northern Mexico.

Breckinridge Loose Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Co.

Sold About 85,000 Pounds of Tobacco on January 21st

The quality generally was poor, but the bidding was spirited and our market as a whole, was the best in the history of our floor. We were represented by eight buyers, each a liberal and clever "individual." John E. Monarch, of Kirk, has to his credit the best crop average, Leaf selling for $12.70, Lugs $8.10, Trash $3.30 and a general average of leaf, lugs and trash of more than $8.00. There was a noticeable advance in low grades; trashes averaged more than $3.00. Common leaf, we think, when body and character were in evidence, sold for at least $1.00 per hundred in advance of our previous sales. We modestly remind our tobacco growers of one fact and that is, we have one of the best lighted and equipped sales floors in Kentucky. "The sun shines upon our efforts for the tobacco growers." We challenge any market in Kentucky to compete with our prices (this means our average) We ask for merit. We came as a new born babe, have grown and plead for the interest of our cause to the farmer. We ask for your continued support and the presence of all farmers on
